Q. The amount shown on my Form 1099G does not agree with my records of what I drew in unemployment last year.

The Form 1099 is based on the date the payment(s) were issued, not the date received. A payment issued in late December might not be received until January. Q. Can I have Federal withholding taxes taken out of my unemployment payments?

Yes, beginning January 1, 1997, you have the option of having Federal Withholding taxes withheld at the current rate of 10%.

Q. What will happen if I draw unemployment benefits while I am working?

You may be charged with an overpayment of unemployment benefits which you will have to repay before any further or future benefits can be paid to you. You may also be disqualified from receiving unemployment benefits. If you are working and drawing benefits, it will be discovered through a periodic audit of your unemployment claim for benefits. Your claim for unemployment benefits may be audited, even after your claim ends. Your claim is audited by comparing any weeks in which you were paid benefits with any wages reported by your employer during the same time period.

Q. If I have an overpayment, how can I pay the money back?

If you are currently eligible to draw unemployment benefits, each week of unemployment benefits will be offset (taken) automatically, as you claim each week until the full amount of the overpayment has been repaid. Any payments used to offset an overpayment will appear on your Form 1099G for year the payments were collected. Overpayments due to fraud cannot be offset. You will not be eligible to receive unemployment benefits until the fraudulent overpayment(s), penalty, and interest have been repaid in cash or income tax offsets.

Otherwise, you may repay the full overpaid amount or contact Benefit Payment Control at 334-956-4000 between 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. to arrange to make monthly payments. Payments can be made online at Labor.Alabama.gov (select 'Online Services', then select "Unemployment Services") or via personal check, money order, cashier's check payable to Alabama Department of Labor and mailed to Alabama Department of Labor, Attention: Benefit Payment Control, 649 Monroe Street, Montgomery, AL 36131. Do not forward cash through the mail. Overpayments may also be withheld from State and Federal Income Tax refunds.

Q. Can I request a waiver of repayment of my overpayment?

Yes. If the overpayment is no fault of your own, a request for waiver of repayment of the overpayment may be approved by the Secretary of Labor. All requests for waiver of repayment of the overpayment must be made in writing by completing a waiver questionnaire and returning the completed questionnaire to the department for review. Waiver questionnaires may be obtained from the address shown below. Overpayments determined to result from fraudulent intent will not be waived.

Q. Can I be charged with fraud if I claim unemployment benefits while working?

Fraud is a willful intent to make a false statement, or misrepresentation or willfully failing to disclose a material fact in order to obtain any benefit payment. This means that anyone who is found to claim as much as one week of benefits with intent to willfully defraud the state may be charged with fraud. This may be determined either by failing to report earnings while working or failing to report a separation from your job in order to obtain unemployment benefits.

Q. What are the penalties for committing fraud while drawing unemployment benefits?

You will be charged with an overpayment of unemployment benefits, which you will have to repay in full before any further or future unemployment benefits can be paid to you. An administrative penalty may be assessed against your current and/or next subsequent claim for unemployment benefits. This penalty may be a monetary amount of not less than four times your weekly benefit amount and not more than your maximum benefit amount deducted from your maximum benefit amount. Additionally, a Federal penalty of 15% may also be assessed. A warrant for your arrest may be filed with the county sheriff in the county which you reside, for committing the act of fraud. The Unemployment Insurance Law provides that anyone found to have committed fraud in claiming unemployment benefits, whether such payment or benefit is received or not, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. If you are convicted in a court of law, each conviction is punishable by a fine of not less than $50 and not more than $500, or imprisonment for not longer than 12 months, or both. Each week claimed shall constitute a separate and distinct offense. A person convicted of fraud is disqualified from voting under Alabama Law.
